

TFG Partner Debra Bryant receives “North Carolina Woman of Achievement” Honor

TFG Partner Debra Bryant received the “Woman of Achievement” award for her efforts to secure federal funding for North Carolina communities. On May 1, 2008, the General Federation of Women’s Clubs of North Carolina held its annual convention in Charlotte and honored eleven women for their outstanding contributions to the citizens of North Carolina. GFWC-NC is the oldest volunteer service organization in the State with approximately 5,000 members in over 150 clubs in local communities. North Carolina Secretary of State Elaine Marshall presented the awards.

“Our partners are always leaders in the professional lobbying industry, but it is truly an honor when they are also recognized for their civic leadership,” said CEO William Ferguson, Jr. of Debra’s award.

Joining Debra for this event were Nelle Hotchkiss, Senior Vice President of the North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation, Joan Myers, former President of the North Carolina Technology Association and now with the Partnership for Defense Innovation-Defense and Security Technology Accelerator in Fayetteville, Laura DeVivo, Senior Policy Advisor for the North Carolina Speaker of the House Joe Hackney, and Leslie Mazingo of The Ferguson Group.
